The Purpose of these Webpages

Soon after joining A V O N Cosmetics Ltd as an Independent Sales Rep in June 2012, Richard discovered the database resources to which these archive pages are linked. Used in conjunction with the physical brochure, finding a particular item is a great deal easier than flicking through the pages.

It will take a bit of practice to learn how to find exactly what you are looking for and the functionality is only as good as the database will allow... i.e. Richard was unable to find a way to retrace the steps needed to access the database and with unannounced improvements, this is likely to be improved by A V O N , going forward.

Sometimes, the database URLs get changed and some results are password protected, nevertheless, familiarity with the terminology will quickly eliminate attempting to access unavailable results. Where the title is prefixed with 'FL' for 'First Look', public access is restricted.

Clicking on any of the brochure images at Richard's 2016 Archive webpage will open a new window from where a search term like 'mascara' can be used to search the entire archive database when the 'include archive' checkbox is selected. The results page will list all references to the search term beginning with the newest brochure, which will often be a future edition.

New ways to shop with A V O N

The best way to place an A V O N order is to use Richard's mobile enabled A V O N web Shop. At the checkout, customers will select their preferred method for order delivery; either a personal delivery arranged by Richard... or a direct delivery from AVON Cosmetics Ltd.

An alternative method is to access Richard's 2016 Archive webpage, as described, where items can be selected from a current brochure and their reference numbers entered into an email template. Richard will be able to respond with a confirmation email which will advise about product availability.

For those who prefer the traditional method whereby a current A V O N brochure is delivered to their home address to be collected shortly thereafter, Richard will be pleased to arrange this. Please call 01794-341405 and/or send an email request by clicking here.

Richard hopes that these Archive webpages will help people to select the precise A V O N product for which they are searching. Registering for an account at Richard's A V O N online Shop is one of the best ways to learn about new products and offers.

Also, each of these webpages will benefit from having their individual social media buttons pressed...
